

Final Project README

This code is used to create a simple 3D graph that can be analyzed from different view points to fully understand the shape of what has been created.

You can create your own graph by changing the position of the three categories in the code.